We are most grateful for those who are partnered with Project James for the 50 children sponsored. It is far from where we need to be though to help offset the huge expenses associated with running a school and orphanage that Christian Light School does for over 250 children. Please pray about joining us by year end or adding Project James to your 2013 budget.

Nikellage is in the second grade and loves playing with dolls and reading is her favorite school subject.

Jameson is in the 6th grade and enjoys playing basketball and Math is his favorite school subject.

Cherley is in the third grade and Bible study class is her favorite school subject and playing with dolls is her favorite playtime activity.

Ricardo is in the eighth grade and likes math class and playing Soccer.

We are still looking for folks who would love to help Project James but just can't swing $35.00 a month. We are now offering a half sponsorship & we partner you with another family at $17.50 each.

MISSION HAITI

Each trip is different in its own way because of the group dynamics of each person that goes and what God is doing in and through each of these individuals. The one thing I can say for sure is that I have never laughed so hard in my life thanks to the joviality of Lynn Daly and the unity of this team.

The list of things physically accomplished is to long for this article but here a few of the highlights built new dining room tables, built door for a bathroom, 800 pounds of supplies brought with us, medical care, oh yeah and Josh Dowling repaired a whole slew of sewing machines and learned to sew.

Thank you to the team and those who make this happen each trip.

THE MIRACLE

The team had the opportunity to once again travel out to Des-sources and do a food distribution in partnership with El Shaddai childrens home. Marie Prinvil and Elizabeth Clackler run the childrens home and are a true blessing to work with each time we visit with them. The team spent the morning packing rice, spaghetti noodles and anchovies for 265 families.

This time we had a miracle happen with the food as we were getting down to the last few bags of food Rhonda and two other folks counted the number of bags we had left for distribution and came up with nine bags left. So we told Marie we have nine left but she had already let ten folks in the gate and Rhonda yells we only have nine and Marie says make it work, so Marie's brother is asking two young ladies to share a bag when we see another bag mysteriously on the table. So all ten get their own bag then Marie lets in an eleventh person and we are like no we don't have any more food but it's to late he is coming expecting food and we look around and Scott Hrinko is holding the eleventh bag of food for him. I know many of you will say you miss counted the bags of food and to that I would say you were probably correct if only one person counted but three people counted and we only had nine bags and we gave away eleven.

God is still in the miracle business folks! What a blessing it was to be in the middle of His power!

NEW PARTNERSHIP

We will partner with Tony Geouge of Champion Karate Center to help purchase much needed clothes and some toys for an orphanage in Guayaquil Ecuador for Christmas presents.

Tony has been working with the Benemerita Sociedad de Protectora de la Infancia over the past two years. I met Tony earlier this year as he expressed interest in going to Haiti with us but the dates just didn't work out. As we began to get to know each other I discovered he was already doing work with an orphanage in Ecuador a natural fit already for us. At this point our partnership will be to assist Tony with trips and provide a tax deductible basis for his trips and what ever funds we can raise to help with the Christmas presents.

If you would like to make Christmas presents possible for this orphanage please indicate on memo line Ecuador on your check or PayPal donation.

James 1:27

Pure and undefiled religion in the sight of our God and Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their distress, and to keep oneself unstained by the world.
